- Ask members to contribute on the spot- whether they do so through payroll deduction, a one-time donation (checks should be made payable to the 'OEA Fund for Children and Public Education), or online! When people wait until later, they forget.
- Encourage Healthy Competition
 - Encourage competition between the members that are collecting contributions or the buildings.
 - Thank and recognize everyone who helps to conduct the drive and those who donate regularly.

- CHECKLIST: Before Your Drive
- Request donor information from last year from your LRC and OEA Organizing and Member Engagement if you don't have it already.
 - Check your materials to make sure you have what you need. Request more forms from your LRC if you need them.
 - Find a Fund Drive Leader and representatives from each worksite to lead your OEA Fund Drive.

BEST PRACTICES

Ask each member in person

Make it personal— tie what is happening in your school district with what is happening in the legislature.

FOR EXAMPLE:

- Protect our district's funding by supporting policies that keep public funds with public schools rather than with charter schools or private schools through vouchers.
- Elect officials who believe that all students, regardless of where they live, deserve the support, tools, and time to learn.
- Pro-public education legislators, endorsed by the OEA Fund, have introduced legislation to end the Resident Educator Summative Assessment.

When members come together through making contributions, we have the ability to make our shared values a reality—like making the Fair School Funding Plan permanent or reducing over testing.

Have forms on hand so members can contribute right away.

When you donate to the OEA Fund you are prioritizing pro-education candidates by giving them a seat at the table. Without that seat, educators' voices and our students' needs will become lost and less important.

As an Education Support Professional, it matters to me that we have elected officials who understand and value the work we bring to our school districts and how we help contribute to the education and growth of our students.

Educators across the state give to the OEA Fund.

The OEA Fund pulls our resources together so our voices will be heard.

Educators sit down with candidates and ask the questions that matter the most to public schools. We endorse candidates based on their positions on education issues.

When our endorsed candidates get elected, we have a seat at the table for important decisions about public education.

1847-1920

In January 1852, the Ohio Journal of Education was "called into existence by the mandate of the Annual Meeting of the Ohio State Teachers Association to meet a long-felt need and often-expressed want of the Association and of the friends of the great cause in which its members are engaged."

The 32-page publication was to be a "Journal of Education, not a Teachers' paper only...it is to be devoted to the promotion of sound education, in its broadest sense, and by all appropriate means. It will labor to secure an efficient supervision of the Common Schools of the State; it will urge the immediate necessity of a thorough revision of School Laws, and the importance of digesting a grand, comprehensive school system, worthy of the age and adequate to our wants; it will advocate the propriety of re-districting the State for School purposes, so that the districts may be of sufficient size to warrant the erection of a good school house and the maintenance of a school during the greater part of the year; it will seek to disseminate correct information in regard to the construction of school houses, and their appurtenances, and the importance of placing in every district a well selected library; it will endeavor to show the indispensable necessity of a course of special training, or a professional education for Teachers; and will aim to elevate the rank of the Teacher by improving his qualifications and preparing him to command the respect which is due to all who are worthily engaged in so noble a calling; and to unite all who are employed in the business of instruction, in such a manner that the experience and improvements of each may become the property of all."

In 1859, when the organization became the Ohio Teachers Association, the Ohio Educational Monthly served as its journalistic voice, building upon the goals of the organization's first journal for members.

Beginning with its first volumes, the Association's member publication has informed, instructed, inspired, and called its readers to action for 170 years.

1941-1950

During World War II, the pages of Ohio Schools focused on the challenges facing public schools and the communities they served—including the critical need for resources and teachers—and the efforts of teachers to support their students both in and beyond the classroom. In the years that followed, articles highlighted legislative achievements, the growing importance and effectiveness of local associations, and a celebration of the Association's 1947 Centennial Anniversary.

1971-1980

During the 15-year period between Ohio's first strike at Tallmadge in 1966 and passage of Ohio's Public Employee Collective Bargaining Law in 1983, teachers in every major city in Ohio went on strike, peaking in 1969-70 with 28 walkouts. The strikes continued throughout the 1970s, making headlines in print and broadcast media throughout the state.

2021-2030

As the Association prepared to celebrate its 175th Anniversary as the voice for public school educators and students, Ohio Schools shared the stories of educators using the strength of their collective voice to meet the challenges of difficult times and finding ways to make their schools and communities better. From navigating COVID-19 to taking action to ensure the passage of the Fair School Funding Plan and other key legislation to seeking election to local school boards, OEA members have stepped up as leaders unified in their purpose to fulfill the promise of great public schools for all Ohio students.
